Each year, your support helps give FLY youth an amazing experience when we visit a grove of tall redwood trees during our three-day leadership retreats.

First we talk about how those trees often don’t grow straight. When the path they are on hits a dead end and other trees are blocking their sun, they bend and change direction so they can reach for the sunlight and grow.

Then we explain how a forest fire might gut the inside of a tree, but its outer bark is so tough, the tree stays standing and continues to grow. We also talk about how the trees grow together in families with their root systems intertwined to share nutrients.

Lastly, we tell the youth that we are all like those redwood trees: beautiful, strong, resilient, adaptable, and helpful. And because of your support, our kids are not defined by the forest fires of their lives.

You give them the chance to stand tall as they find a new path away from the pipeline to prison, to a place where they can grow and thrive. Thank you!

THREE THINGS YOU HELPED FLY ACHIEVE

1. MENTORING
   We made 69 new matches with volunteer adult mentors, representing 105% of our goal. We also completed year two of the transition of FLY’s Mentor Program to our Court Appointed Friend and Advocate model, which focuses on racial justice within the mentoring approach.

2. LEADERSHIP
   In only its second year, the Leadership Training Program in Alameda County grew to more than 130% of our target for youth served. 100% reported that FLY gave them positive adult role models, confidence to deal with negative peer pressure, and hope for their future.

3. LEGAL EDUCATION
   We served more than 2,200 youth with our law classes, including 700 middle school kids living in high-crime, high-poverty areas of Santa Clara County. In San Mateo County, the Law Program reached nearly 200% of our annual goal for that community.

OUTCOMES

Without effective intervention, 50% - 80% of youth released from detention in the U.S. will reoffend. And juvenile incarceration can decrease the chances of high school graduation by up to 39%. Yet over the past three years in FLY’s Leadership Training Program:

- 86% of our youth were not convicted of a new crime during their program year
- 83% of eligible high school seniors earned their high school diplomas or GEDs

“I stand tall because FLY helped me better understand the world and who I am as a person.”

NEW INITIATIVES UNDERWAY

Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion
FLY staff’s new Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Committee will focus on how we can better serve youth from marginalized communities and backgrounds. The Committee will also recommend ways FLY can more deeply engage our partners in promoting justice, equity, and inclusion for youth within our systems.

Orientation to Probation
FLY’s Youth Advisory Council developed a special orientation for youth new to probation and their families. The entirely youth-led sessions explain how probation works and how to be successful in completing it. They also allow FLY youth to share their personal experiences. The orientations have been very enthusiastically received by the youth and their families.

Reentry Program
FLY launched a new Reentry Program serving youth in longer term incarceration at camps in San Mateo County. The program provides law classes while the youth are in custody, then following their release, they receive intensive one-on-one support from a FLY case manager to help them transition back into the community.

“‘I am standing tall because of my struggle. It was beautiful but painful, and at the end it was all worth it because nothing but roses sprouted from it.’”

“I stand tall because FLY gave me the hope that I can be the person I want to be.”

“I stood tall last year because I focused on myself and also helped others with some of their needs.”
